

Seasons

Flesch-Kincaid: 2.7 | Words: 86

What should I wear today? It depends on the season. There are four seasons each year. They are winter, spring, summer, and fall. The seasons are determined by the tilt of the Earth toward the sun. Winter is the coldest with short days and long nights. Children stay inside to play. Spring is warm. The trees and flowers begin to bloom. Summer is the hottest season. Families enjoy going to the pool. During the fall, the weather cools and the leaves change colors. Enjoy every season!
